

Once the f call finishes it returns the address of x, but the OS will likely fill in a different value than 5.